

iForm®

Five ceramic parts – broad use

The new iForm® series allows the implementation of an independent design into areas with tiles and fireplaces. The complete product family features a floating design and is formed to meet needs of a modern urban interior design. iForm® distinguishes itself by high flexibility in design and shapes. The five ceramic parts are tailored to specific customer requirements and allow easy assembly. iForm® is the basic component for the implementation of flexible and highly variable design ideas, such a system integrated into the wall or a horizontal or vertical room divider. Whatever customers may imagine, iForm® provides the design solution.

iForm® can be readily combined with a plethora of varying design elements and styles. Form's® glaze varieties matt black and glossy enamel white underline the most current urban style of residential buildings, while the new Sommerhuber product line fits into cottages with brown shades such as peat medium, thereby always providing optimum solutions for people's homes, making them to a most personal environment.
